GLOBAL EXPANSION OF ASTRAX UNIVERSAL BUSINESS COMMUNITY

Abstract

Under the Outer Space Treaty, which states that outer space does not belong to any country, various deliberations are being held at the United Nations Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space. However, as the space economic zone expands in the future, I believe that a coalition of NGO-like space business communities that transcends countries at an individual level will be necessary. Apart from the United Nations, it is necessary to create a community (or a federation of such communities) such as the Space Federation or the Federation of Individuals to decide how to use space at the individual or corporate level, so that various common needs and common problems can be collected, summarized, and discussed at the United Nations. However, the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, which is organized by the United Nations Office for Outer Space Affairs, currently only has scientific and legal subcommittees, and no economic subcommittee. Therefore, it is necessary to create an economic subcommittee in the Committee on the Peaceful Uses of Outer Space, and then to think of a community of organizations that can hold discussions in the subcommittee. In this paper, I will present ASTRAX's idea of global development of the space business community and a summary of the current problems and proposed solutions.
